Cook Out Onion Rings Guide 2026: Price, Calories and Best Pairings

By Matt Hanson, CookoutsMenue.com | November 2026

Cook Out onion rings are one of the most underrated sides on the menu. They are crispy, golden and cheap, and they work as a tray side or as a snack on their own. This guide covers the 2026 price, the calories for a full order and a tray portion, and the best ways to order them.

Price and Calories

A full order of Cook Out onion rings costs $2.69 and has 260 calories. Inside a Cookout Tray, the onion rings portion is smaller and has 128 calories. Prices vary by location, so your local menu board has the final word. All figures were checked against November 2026 menu boards and Cook Out's official nutrition guide.

How to Order Onion Rings

Order them a la carte for $2.69, or pick them as one of the two sides in a Cookout Tray. The Regular Tray costs $7.99 and the Junior Tray costs $6.99, and each tray comes with one entree, two sides and a drink. Onion rings pair well with a Cajun Style Chicken Sandwich ($4.85, 380 Cal), a BBQ Sandwich ($4.49, 368 Cal) or a Regular Burger ($3.49, 328 Cal). You can upgrade the tray drink to a hand-spun milkshake for about $1.50 extra. Every milkshake flavor costs $3.99.

Sauces and Dipping

Cook Out offers free basic sauces with your order, including honey mustard, ranch, BBQ sauce, ketchup, mayo, mustard and hot sauce. Honey mustard and ranch are the two best dips for onion rings. The house Cook Out sauce also works well if you like a tangy finish.

Are Cook Out Onion Rings Vegetarian?

Yes, onion rings are one of the vegetarian picks at Cook Out, along with the cheese quesadilla, hushpuppies, Cajun fries and cheese fries. Two cautions: there are no vegan entrees, and fried items share oil with meat products, so strict vegetarians should ask at the counter.
